Howard Twitty and Dr. Lanny Johnson Collaborate to Publish *“There is More to Putting Than Meets the Eye”

Scottsdale, Arizona...PGA Tour player Howard Twitty and renowned orthopedic surgeon Dr. Lanny Johnson have written a book on putting titled, There is More to Putting than Meets the Eye. The book is self-published and is available on their web site www.prescriptionputting.com/MoreToPutting.aspx.

Twitty won three times on the PGA Tour and is considered by many of his peers as one of the best putters to have played. He has since worked with hundreds of amateur and professional players on the nuances of putting compiling mountains of data that is used in the book. At the end of each chapter, he provides “Twitty’s Takes,” which is an inside the ropes perspective that only a veteran PGA Tour player could add.

Dr. Johnson is an internationally recognized orthopedic surgeon, one of the pioneers in arthroscopic surgery. He is an inventor, holding over 40 U.S. and foreign patents related to surgery. Now retired, Dr. Johnson is a credentialed instructor on the PGA Tour and has conducted thousands of hours of research related to putting. He is an expert on proprioception, spatial relationships and psychomotor burdens – all terms to describe how the body and brain work together.

“We studied every detail of more than 200 PGA Tour players,” said Johnson. “The concepts presented here are based on research and evidence and not on folklore or tradition.”

“Our research taught us two things,” added Twitty. “First, there is no one method that is used by all great putters. Second, there are easy ways and hard ways to putt. We hope this book can help the reader create a simple, efficient and repeatable stroke.”
